Bolide is a bull bred in France, and he combines good development with attractive muscularity. Bolide produces cows that have excellent maternal traits and he has the highest replacement index of all Parthenaise bulls in Ireland. His daughters stand out for their milk production and fertility traits. His calves also show good muscularity. Bolide gives average calving ease and is therefore not principally suited for use on maiden heifers.

His daughters also have a short gestation period. Bolide enjoys high popularity as a bull in Ireland.  Bolide is an impressively stylish bull, and his calves also have good muscularity.
