Guveau is a new Normandy bull from France. He has a good temperament and is very well developed.

His sire, Vivrelec, is a bull with more than 800 daughters in his index in France. He has a plus for muscling and development and a solid plus for milk.

The dam of Guveau is a real cow, who is well developed and exhibits hardiness. She has a very correct udder and has depth in her body. She also has very good feet & legs and this is something we can see in her son Guveau.

Guveua is a sturdy-built bull, who exemplifies all the breed characteristics of the Normandes. The maternal calving process (mcp index) of Guveau is judged to be average in France. His first daughters are doing well and as a result Guveau continues to be widely used.
