Mr. Valley JarJar Binksboy is the first Brahman bull to have produced semen in Europe. Binksboy was imported as an embryo from America by Joost van Dal.

Binksboy is a beautiful red Brahman, with good development and has only unique characteristics. He has an excess of hide, which is used in the warmer areas where they live to make him more resistant to being bitten by mosquitoes.

In addition, he has very large droopy ears and he can grow on very low calorie feed. The character of Binksboy can be described as quiet to very quiet. A bull whose progeny will certainly help make the landscape look more colourful.
